FRANK JUNIOR

Mom, Dad I met this girl—

(...and as Frank Junior dances in the door, his mother and father dance on opposite. But with a turn, in an instant, we see that it's not his father. It's JACK BARNES. And Frank Junior sees this, and they see him.)

MUSIC STOPS suddenly.)

PAULA

Frankie! You remember your father's friend, Jack Barnes?

JACK BARNES

Frank. Good to see you. Paula, take care.

(He grabs his hat and goes. Frank Junior is silent.)

PAULA

Are you hungry, Frankie? I'll make you a sandwich.

(Frank Junior doesn't move.)

Frankie?

(No answer.)

You're not going to tell him.

FRANK JUNIOR

No.

PAULA

That's right. There's nothing to tell. I'm going out for a few hours to visit some old friends from the tennis club, and when I get home, we'll all have dinner together, right?

(Frank Junior rubs his eyes. Paula gets her rockerhook.)

Do you need some money, Frankie? ~~To buy some comic~~ books? Here, take two dollars.

(She holds out the money to him but he just looks at it. Then at her. MUSIC.)
